CLOSES CHURCH AS 4 ARE FINED

"Holy Roller" Penecostal Church Padlocked Because Worshippers Kept Children at Services Until Early Hours of Morning.

ELYRIA, O., Aug. 22.—With the holy roller Pentecostal church at Beach Grove padlocked and four of its members fined on charges of contributing to the delinquency of minor children, a true had been arranged in the case between county authorities and the sect today.

Prosecutor I. C. Davis who swore to the warrants and caused the closing of the church following reports that children of tender age were kept by their parents at the services in the morning, had secured pledges from leaders in the organization that services would not be resumed until permits on had been given. He intimated that a permit would not be granted unless the services should be given shortened or a binding promise given that only adults would attend.

Bert R. Moon passed away at his home on the North Ridge road at George in police custody this morning at the age of 54 years 7 months and 13 days.

The deceased had been a resident of Elyria all of his life and was a highly respected farmer of that place. He had been ill for the past year. He is survived by his wife.

Mr. Moon was a member of the Knights of Pythias of Lorain and of the Avon Methodist church.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock from his late home with Rev. Chaffee officiating. The body will be taken to Charlotte, Mich., Monday morning, for burial.

SUES FOR ACCOUNTING
Giuseppe Santon has filed suit against Giuseppe Zocchi and the Cleveland Trust Co. Santon states that he and Zocchi own a piece of land on 32nd street, Lorain and that since Jan. 15, 1924, Zocchi has refused to divide the profits derived from renting the place. The Cleveland Trust Co. has a mortgage on the land of about $1500. Santon asks that the land be sold and that he receive half of the proceeds.

ON BOARD U. S. CRUISER
Richmond, Aug. 22.—By wireless to I. N. S.—Lieutenant "Tony" Locatelli, Italian air ace, who accompanied the American world flyer Lieutenant Lowell Smith and Lieutenant Erik Nelson of their hop off from Iceland for Greenland, was missing today. American war craft were ordered to search the sea for him.

Just before midnight Rear Admiral Thomas S. Magruder, commander of the American light cruiser divisions received a radiogram that Locatelli had not arrived at Fredericksburg, Greenland. Orders were given for the Richmond, the cruiser Raleigh and the destroyer Barry to search the waters east of Cape Farewell at the southern extremity of Greenland.

A scout plane with a long cruising radius was ordered to fly over the water in an effort to locate the missing Italian. An earlier radiogram received by the Richmond said that Locatelli had not been sighted at Fredericksburg up to 15 o'clock (Greenwich Meridian time) Thursday night.

Conflicting reports had been current regarding the whereabouts of Locatelli. After it was established that he had not landed at Fredericksburg, belief was expressed that the Italian may have proceeded on to Igloo, Greenland.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian flyer who left Reykjavik, Iceland, with the United States army round the world aviators but who got separated from them enroute, has reached Fredericksburg, Greenland according to word received by the Star today.

ON BOARD U. S. CRUISER
RICHMOND, Aug. 22.—(By wireless to I. N. S.)—Having completed the longest and most perilous leg of their great world flying flight, Lieut. Lowell Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson were resting today at Fredericksburg, Greenland. They completed the 825 mile jump from Reykjavik, Iceland, shortly after 8 o'clock last night, taking more than 12 hours for the long hop across the northernmost fringes of the Atlantic Ocean.

Italian Separated
Lieut. "Tony" Locatelli, the Italian flyer who left Reykjavik with the Americans got separated from them during the flight. During the early stages of the journey the Italian was in the lead.

According to a wireless report, Locatelli made a landing of a few minutes at Sledge Ford, 65 miles south of Reykjavik, but caught up with his colleagues, Smith and Nelson, after taking the air again. Weather conditions were good. The next jump of the flight will take them to Labrador, the mainland of the North American continent.

The American machines stood the long flight admirably. It was the most severe test they had stood as the flight was several hundred miles more than the original plans called for.

During part of the trip the air men encountered cross winds which put a big strain upon the planes.

A dense fog had settled down when Smith landed at Fredericksburg.

Nelson and Locatelli were not in sight when Smith's plane set down. Smith said they had become separated and that he did not know how far the others were behind him.

President Coolidge Makes Gift to Henry Ford

Henry Ford, auto maker and antiquarian, has added to his collection of historic relics of New England handicraft an old oaken bucket presented to him by President Coolidge, whose grandfather made it. The bucket was given when Ford, with the other two of the "Three Musketeers of commerce," science and camping, visited the president on his vacation at Plymouth, Vt. Left to right, Harvey Firestone, the President, Henry Ford, Thomas Edison, Mr. Firestone's son, Mrs. Coolidge, John Coolidge, the President's father.

DEFENSE MAKES PLEA FOR SLAYERS

Huge Crowd Jams Chicago Court—Many Fail to Hear Pleas in Effort to Cheat Gallows.

CRIMINAL COURT CHICAGO
Aug. 22.—Drawn by the magnet of the defense making its supreme plea to save Nathan F. Leopold and Richard A. Loeb from the gallows, a veritable mob stormed the doors of Judge John R. Caverly's courtroom today and fought and struggled with a battalion of police in an effort to see the intellectual slayers of Bobby Franks.

The crush about the doors became so great that it required the efforts of a dozen police to hold the crowd back. There were only 300 seats in courtroom and many times that number sought admission. Most of them were women.

They shoved and pushed as at a bargain counter.

The prospect of seeing the defense play its ace was the magnet which drew the greatest crowd of the five weeks trial.

The "ace" is Clarence Darrow, the soft-spoken attorney whose seductive pleas for mercy have resulted in some of the most surprising court verdicts on record.

Yet after the mob had fought and struggled and a part got in, it was not Darrow but Walter Bachrach, one of his associates who took up the burden of convincing Judge Caverly that Leopold and Loeb should go to prison instead of to the gallows for their "perfect crime."

Bachrach lead off with an attack on the testimony of the alienists that the state put on last week to swear that neither "Dick" or "Babe" is afflicted with mental disease. He drew attention to the cursory examinations which the state's doctors had given the two young defendants, and he read from the works of European authorities to show that "mental disease" often times lies below the surface of normality.

From European authorities, Bachrach switched over to the state's own doctors for written proof of the need for a thorough examination before a verdict is rendered on a patient. He read from a book written jointly by Dr. H. Douglas Singer and Dr. William O. Kroh, both state's alienists, to the effect that it is often necessary to conduct an examination over some weeks before determining the mental condition of a patient.

DAVIS CONTRASTS ACHIEVEMENTS OF DEMS AND G. O. P.

SEA GRIT N. J. Aug. 22.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, speaking this afternoon at the "Little White House" made famous by Woodrow Wilson, contrasted the achievements of the Democratic Union administration with the "failures" of the present Republican administration and strongly intimated that the American people will demand an accounting next November.

"We stand on the threshold of another campaign," Davis declared, "and the American people are called on once more to decide whether they will leave their destinies in charge of those who are now in power or give them over to other hands."

"Do they want a change or do they not?"

It was here that Woodrow Wilson first learned that he elected here where he wrote some of his highest public papers.

Davis addressing thousands of New Jerseyites, here from all parts of the state many of whom knew Wilson personally, warmly praised the late president whose voice during the great war rang out like a trumpet across the world, and who, when peace came, "gave the last ounce of his remaining strength to his country and to humanity."

Almost in the same breath, Davis bitterly assailed the administration which took up where Wilson left off.

He cited the Teapot Dome scandal which, he said, revealed how the public reserves had been squandered, and, after all, he said, came the veterans which resulted "in the bartering away of the property of the government and the resources of the nation."

Then came prohibition and the denizens of the "little green house" had their opportunity. Even the tariff, Davis continued, "afforded an opening to the hosts of privilege for an assault less direct but more devastating to the public pocketbook," and he concluded with a contrast of the foreign policy of the Democratic administration with the foreign policy of America today.

"They," said Davis, meaning the Republicans, "present a party made up of a president facing in one direction a congress in another and the rank and file of scattered in between."

"We have a harmonious army of commoners and privateers, marching to a common end."

BANDIT LOOTS TOTAL OVER $100,000

Another $100,000 Jewelry Holdup at New York—Get $7,000 in Cash and $30,000 in Checks in Venice, Ill., and St. Louis Bank Holdups.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Three armed bandits entered the wholesale jewelry department of Field, Enheimer and Jacoby on the ninth floor of the office building at 170-172 Broadway—below the police deadline—yesterday when five armed highwaymen swooped down on the Venice State bank and carried off $5,501.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—Three armed bandits held up two officials of the Industrial Savings Trust Company here today and escaped with $2,390 cash and $30,148 in checks.

ARREST SEVEN IN RAID HERE

At 12:45 last night a report was received at Police Station that a party of negroes at 25 1/2 Chestnut street were keeping everyone on the street awake with their noise. Officers Krav and Obits went to the place and arrested six negroes and one white man.

A bottle of booze was found in the house and this morning in municipal court Mary Jones, proprietress of the place was fined $200 and costs for possessing of liquor. Nellie Bauer, Brooks Smith, Marj Pate, Henry Brooks and James Robinson were fined $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Charles Snyder the white man was fined $10 for the same charge.

TAKEN ILL HERE
The police were notified early this morning that there was a man at the New York Central yards suffering from a severe pain in his left side. He gave his name as Albert Spickelberg and his address as Altoona, Pa., and was taken in the police emergency to the hospital where he received treatment.

Prohibition
The prohibitionist the nominee said was seized upon by the denizens of the "little green house" as their opportunity."

Trade was brisk and profits were easy in this particular line. It but one-half the stories told by George Remus, king of the (No. 3 Continued on Page 2)

FACE CRISIS AS PARTIES DIFFER ON REPARATIONS

"MADE MISTAKE" SAYS DANCER ON MCCOY

Now Declares She Was Wrong When She Saw McCoy Leave Slain Woman's Apartments Just Before Another Man Entered.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 22.—Dagmar Dakren, dancer and actress "Kid" McCoy's eighth wife, has admitted she made a mistake in statements that she saw McCoy leave the apartments of Mrs. Teresa Mora the night the woman was slain just before another man entered detectives of the district attorney's office said today.

Miss Dakren the detectives said, retracted her first story as saying it was not true and that she knew nothing about Mrs. Mora's death.

McCoy followed his usual religious reading in his cell today. He arose early and after going through ten minutes of strenuous exercises read the bible.

Agents of the United States customs department are continuing their search for $50,000 worth of jewelry said to have belonged to Mrs. Mora and on which they assert duty may not have been paid. The agents said they had descriptions of the eight pieces of jewelry which the slain woman had owned, believed to be in Los Angeles.

LIQUOR RUNNER KILLED BY GUARDS

SEARCHLIGHT N. J. Aug. 22.—In a running fight between coast guards and a gasoline launch and alleged rum runners, Antonio Pietro of Astoria was shot and killed today.

The "Lynx II" with its cargo of 500 cases of liquor, was seized by five men who were with Pietro in the boat were arrested and held on the charge of violating the Volstead act.

The battle occurred off Roanoke shoals light near here where more than 150 shots were exchanged, the battle lasting over half an hour.

LOCAL PAYROLL NEVER MISSING

Warren O. Clark who has reported to the police as missing at about $1000 was not missing at all. He left Cleveland about 10 o'clock last Saturday morning with the pay for some workmen who are working for the Mills Co. doing a job at the Elvira Iron and Steel Co.

Clark arrived in Elyria a little behind schedule and the workmen whom he was to pay off had quit work for the day it being Saturday. He parked his car on Cheapside by the court house and looked up some of the men whom he was to pay. He then returned to Cleveland.

It was about 5 15 probably just before he got into Cleveland on the return trip that the Mills Co. called Elyria and reported him missing. When he did show up they failed to notify the police who have supposed him to be still missing.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Up- toar precipitated by the communists, today inter- ferred with the government's plan to open orderly de- bate upon the question of ratifying the Dawes plan. Disorders compelled an ad- journment of the sitting.

When the deliberations were renewed the Communists again became so noisy that adjournment had to be taken after five minutes until Saturday morning.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The decisive battle in the reichstag over ratification of the Dawes reparations plan agreement opened today with the bitterest debate in prospect.

"Dissolution and a plebiscite" were to be the heavy guns brought forward by the government's artillery. Chancellor Marx, foreign secretary Stresemann and Dr. Luther, the government's most experienced gunners, led the fight against the anti-Dawes forces, German nationalists, butleries and communists, who have become uncommon comrades in a common cause.

Face Economic Collapse
Marx, Stresemann and Luther maintain that rejection of the Dawes plan would mean economic collapse for the Ruhr industries prolongation of the sufferings of the populations in occupied territories and a bar to resumption of negotiations with the allies.

Adjournment by the government is determined by the anti-Dawes party leaders. This will enable the leaders of the various political groups to decide definitely what attitude they shall assume when a vote is taken next week. This vote will decide the fate of the Dawes plan.

Passage of laws putting the Dawes plan into execution will require a two thirds majority. Chancellor Marx was expected to announce that the government is determined to dissolve the reichstag and either summon a new election or appeal to the country through a plebiscite if the Dawes plan is rejected.

However, it is generally believed the government will take such a step only as a last resort. The first skirmishes in the Dawes battle already have been decided in the favor of the government, the state premiers and the federal council having already approved the London protocol.

Committees will sit continuously to prepare the necessary bills for execution of the Dawes plan to save time.

Altogether eight bills will be introduced in the reichstag, four referring to banking and currency problems, two concerning reorganization of railways, one relating to industrial obligations and one covering note approving the London agreements. It is not yet decided whether they will be voted separately or en bloc.

Thrown Into Turmoil
Communists threw the reichstag into turmoil as soon as the session opened. The disorders became so great that the sitting was adjourned until 5 o'clock.

FIND BODY OF MISSING NEW YORKER

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The body of a man covered with tar and plaster of Paris was found this afternoon in a galvanized iron box taken from the darkest corner of a dark cellar at 81 West 12th street. It was identified as that of Aaron J. Graft, a radio maker, missing since August 9, when he went to see John Logans, his partner, at the house where the body was found. Logans vanished the same day.

Claim Severe Snow Storm Rampant On Mars

LOWELL OBSERVATORY, FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 22.—The planet Mars is gripped by a severe snow storm, American scientists told International News Service here today. The disturbance was traced last night and officially today by the astronomers who had a small dark speck had been detected as it slowly moved across the sky.

The storm, the scientists said, appeared below the Martian equator and appeared to be moving northward at a fairly good speed. This morning it had been moving the equator and spread out, becoming much "thinner". Scientists said the storm covered territory about as large as the states of Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The storm, they asserted, had every appearance of a violent snow storm or blizzard, forming in the mountains of Mars and then spreading. At first the surface of the planet was obscured by the storm but gradually conditions cleared.

May Be Cycles
The American scientists declared they were almost certain the disturbance was a snow storm, although it may have been a sand storm or cyclone, but if this were so it was more severe than anything similar occurring on the earth.

The delicate measuring instruments of Dr. W. W. Coblentz, of Washington, D. C., which were perfected by him to measure heat radiation failed to detect a change in temperature during the storm. Dr. Coblentz said this was due to the fact that the storm covered a comparatively small area.

Dr. Coblentz said today that the four American astronomers at this observatory were convinced Mars is much warmer than supposed. He declared that the summer season is now approaching on the distant planet and that the south polar "snow" cap had rapidly receded, indicating that the Martian temperature was almost as high as that of the earth.

Changes noted in the planet this week, he said, indicated changes in possible vegetation on the planet, denoting possibly season crops and habitation and substantiating claims advanced by Dr. Lowell observations last night which afforded them some of the clearest views of Mars on record.

Mars Inhabited
MARE ISLAND, CAL., Aug. 22.—Mars is inhabited but the chances of communication with that planet are remote, according to Captain T. J. See, professor of mathematics U. S. N. and government astronomer at the naval observatory here.

"Astronomical observations," said Prof. See today, "show that Mars rotates in 24 hours 37 minutes and 22.87 seconds. Seasons there are about the same as here, although the year there is twice as long as on the earth.

"Mars has polar caps of snow and ice which melt in advance of the Martian summer and build up with the return of winter. Wonderful to relate, we can see the clouds floating in the Mars atmosphere. And if Mars has seasons and day and night, clouds snow and sunlight as favorable as on the Plateau of Tibet, it is certainly inhabited."

See Developments
LOWELL OBSERVATORY, FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 22.—Observations of the planet Mars

has been in progress at Lowell observatory for several months and will be continued for some months after the planet's nearest approach to earth tonight. In fact some valuable observations may be made in the weeks to come—more valuable than those obtained at this time.

The size, mass, day, year and season and other facts are well known of Mars and considerable also of Mars' temperature and atmosphere, but it is accurately known still more accurately the extent and composition of Martian air, the temperatures of different portions of the planet's surface, and the causes if possible, of changes in the surface features, seasonal and otherwise.

Hence the observation program at this observatory includes visual and photographic observations of the various surface features and the phenomena related to them, together with photometric and spectroscopic studies of the light, and radiometric determination of temperature using the inch refractor and the 40 inch reflector, with many highly mechanical telescopic instruments.

THE PANTRY SHELF

OBERLIN

By Mrs. W. E. Chapin

TO RESURFACE TWO HIGHWAYS

OBERLIN, Aug. 22.—Contracts for the resurfacing of East College and West Lorain streets were awarded to the General Asphalt Paving company, of Canton, by the council Wednesday night. The expense of resurfacing East College street by this company was bid at $21,522.77 and West College at $8,565.18.

Errors in the bond ordinance passed on May 7 prevented the village entering into a legal contract with any paving company until the bonds are sold. By resolution this ordinance was repealed and a new one, complying with the Griswold Act, was passed. Work will be allowed to begin at once because of an agreement entered into by the village and the company whereby the latter agrees to finance the work until a legal contract can be drawn.

A mixture of coarse stone and asphalt, known as Topeka, was approved by the council as the material to be used in the work.

The improvements on the old paving will extend from the New York Central track on East College street to Main street, and from Woodland avenue to Prospect street on West Lorain. Bricks between the car rails and on each side will be laid to conform to the new grading.

A new catch basin will be installed near 97 East College street to carry the flood water to Plum creek.

DOROTHY HUBBARD, 14, SUGGUMBED THURSDAY

OBERLIN, Aug. 22.—Dorothy Hubbard, daughter of Professor and Mrs. C. D. Hubbard, of 125 Woodland avenue passed away at her home early yesterday afternoon. She had been ill and confined to her bed since she received an attack of a former ailment while with her parents in Wilmington, Vt., on July 4. The former ailment resulted in an operation last December and apparently she had been recuperating until last July.

Miss Hubbard was born in Columbus, O., in October, 1909. When her father became a member of the College faculty the family moved to Oberlin and have been residents here since. The deceased has been a brilliant and accomplished student in the Oberlin schools and would have been a Junior in the high school this fall. She is survived by her parents, two sisters, Ruth and Marjorie and one brother, Oscar. Her grandfather, Dr. N. L. Rugg, who is now residing here, also survives.

SULLIVAN DEFEATS ELYRIANS IN 11th; GOOD HORSE RACES

WELLINGTON, Aug. 22.—About 7000 attended the second day of the Wellington Fair.

In the morning one of the best ball games ever played on the local ground was enjoyed. Sullivan, in the Richmond, Elyria, finished the ninth inning with a score of 2 to 2. Two more innings were played before the final score 2 to 3 was won with Sullivan the victor.

The parade of horses and cattle took place in front of the grand stand at 1 o'clock. Some of the finest cattle in the state were exhibited. Many of them will go directly to the State Fair at Columbus, O.

The horse racing was in full swing. The track was in excellent condition.

PROHIBITION A BLESSING

The annual report of the Ohio state board of clemency reveals an increase in crime. The report says that crime in Ohio, "has increased enormously within the last ten years." The automobile is blamed for much of the increase in crime because it forms an easy method of get-away, so contributing to crime, and because automobiles are great temptations to boys. "Automobile theft," the report declared, "swells the population of the penal institutions by the hundreds now. It furnishes the means of get-aways in robbery and adds to that and other forms of crime."

Then the report takes up prohibition as an aid to the criminal and says that it is "not an unmixed blessing. Now we have one hundred and twenty-five violators of prohibition statutes in the penitentiary, while two years ago we had none." The increase in the number of prohibition law violators in the penitentiary now, over two years ago, is easily accounted for by the stringent enforcement laws passed in the last session of the legislature as well as the increasing public opinion favoring law enforcement.

There is a glaring lack of consistency in the statement that prohibition is not an unmixed blessing. Of course it isn't an unmixed blessing if we are considering the ultra-social people, the bootlegger and toper. Neither is the automobile an unmixed blessing, yet for some reason some people fail to apply the same reasoning to the contribution the automobile has made to the penitentiaries that they apply to prohibition. If we are to consider that any law which swells the numbers in our penal institutions is not an "unmixed blessing" we will consider the law against murder, theft, and rape as not "unmixed blessings." There are some people society doesn't care to bless anyhow, and the law violators are some of them.

BEAUTY CONTESTS

It is said that circumstances raise up a man for every crisis and it can be said with equal truth that there is an organization ready to cope with every evil. The Women's Christian Temperance Union has more than once taken up the cudgel against evils other than the liquor traffic. Now they are attacking the bathing beauty disease.

"A beach should be a place for wholesome recreation or amusement and not for the indulgence of this practice which has attained the proportions of a genuine evil comparable with that of the saloon in its palmiest days," says one of their number.

Not living close to a beach we might be expected to be uninterested in the pro and con of the beach beauty contest, but the evil of the contests is even in our midst. The picture supplements of the daily newspapers and the movies carry pictures galore of the "beauties." We have yet to see one who measures up to our standard of beauty, which does not center on the contestants' legs, but on her face as it expresses her character. Our standard of beauty, possibly a bit peculiar, but which may be shared by others, is that a woman is really beautiful when she appears so under all circumstances and all the time, when we can see her eyes flash, see lines of character in her face and realize that her face is a mirror to a fine soul. A few of the pictures we have seen of so-called beauties are of pretty girls but most of them are ugly, as someone described them, "they look as though they had been hit by a tomato." We doubt even the judges to whom they appear beautiful would find that their beauty is more than skin deep.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

JOHN C. WALTON

Underscored by legislative impeachment from the highest state office in Oklahoma, John C. Walton is well on his way to a political comeback. Announcing his candidacy for the Democratic senatorial nomination, he said that the nomination was the most important of his life.

Walton was born 43 years ago on a farm near Indianola, Mo., and migrated from North Carolina following the Civil war.

At the age of seven his parents went to Fort Smith, Ark., and engaged in the hotel business. Walton received his education at the public schools and business college in that city.

Later in life after having engaged for several years in the railroad business, chiefly as a locomotive engineer, during which time he spent four years in Mexico, he received the bachelor of science degree in engineering from Christian Brothers College at St. Louis, Mo., and settled about seventeen years ago in Oklahoma City as the head of the Walton-Macintosh Engineering and Construction Company, in which business he achieved an enviable success.

Two years thereafter he was nominated by the Democratic party and elected mayor of Oklahoma City. In a non-partisan conference, 1921, Walton was proposed as a candidate for governor, and on February 2, 1922, he was unanimously chosen by a second convention of the farming and laboring elements of the state in the city of Shawnee.

Following a short and tempestuous term in the governor's chair, Walton was impeached and removed from office last November. The charges against him involving corruption in office, wilful neglect of duty, incompetency and moral turpitude.

In 1905 Walton married Miss Madeline Orick at Fort Worth, Texas. They have two children, Madge and Vena.

POEMS THAT LIVE
CHANSON DE ROSEMONDE
The dawn is lonely for the sun,
And earth and sea are pale and wan
As one in fear.

But when day strides across the hills,
The warm blood rushes through
The bare soft bosom of the blue
And all the glad east thrills.

Oh, come, my King! The hounds of joy
Are waiting for the horn
To chase the doe of heart's desire
Across the heights of morn.

Oh, come, my Sun, and let me
The future of the day!
Oh, come, my love! Oh, come, my love!
Thou art so long away!

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

JAPAN WILL BE GREATEST FACTOR IN UNITED STATES PROGRESS, SAYS YOUNG JAP LEADER

Ten or twelve years from now Japan will be one of the greatest factors affecting American progress," Yusuke Tsurumi, one of Japan's political leaders, asserted in a recent lecture in the U. S.

"Tradition, geography and irresistible social and political forces support this statement," he said. "America and Japan, on the opposite shores of a vast ocean, stand now upon the threshold of a new era—the Pacific era."

Dr. Tsurumi referred to the words "grave consequences" used by Ambassador Hanthara at Japan in connection with the immigration act as being in his opinion the "exact truth." He also connected the responsibility for the two conflicting tendencies in Japanese foreign policies with the names of two Americans, General Le Gendre and General Grant.

War, civilization's menace, Dr. Tsurumi spoke of war as a menace to civilization. He said we must not only make use of such agencies as the League of Nations and the Washington conference for the prevention of war, but we must sincerely face underlying problems, namely the cause of war.

Having advanced the thesis that war is a menace to civilization, he said, "I am impelled by the solemn obligation to speak the truth as I see it, to reassert with even greater emphasis, the contention of Mr. Hanthara that the recent immigration bill passed by the congress of the United States and signed under protest by President Coolidge has had and will continue to have 'grave consequences' not only in Japan but throughout the world. This statement, in my opinion, is the exact truth. To grow angry at storms and earthquakes, to do so does not mean a threat; it does not mean that any intelligent person in Japan dreams of going to war with the United States over the immigration act. It means that the immigration act marks an epoch in the development of Japanese policy, in the conflict of liberal and conservative forces in Japan, in the changing psychology of the Japanese people, in the unfolding of the drama of international politics, on the Pacific stage in the first instance and on the world stage finally.

Visions of Close Union.
"If I may be allowed to anticipate, I will venture to say that throughout this story, from the beginning to the latest cable, the United States of America has played an important role in our development—one which is destined to be even more impressive in the future. Ten or twenty years from now Japan will be one of the greatest—perhaps the greatest—of all outside factors affecting American progress. Tradition, geography and irresistible social and political forces support this statement. America and Japan, on the opposite shores of a vast ocean, stand now upon the threshold of a new era—the Pacific era.

What I have said implies no claim that these two nations are important to the exclusion of all other nations. Nor would I recklessly suggest that Japan's importance is equal to that of the United States. My thought is merely that these two nations, as time passes, will come in contact more and more, and that relationship closer than ever before will grow up between them."

W. A. CRIM, CALLS TANLAC THE WORKINGMAN'S FRIEND

Tells How Famous Tonic Restored His Strength And Overcame Troubles Enabling Him To Stick On His Job.

When W. A. Crim, 1534 Deuber Ave., Canton, Ohio, recently spoke of Tanlac as "the workingman's friend," he but repeated the grateful tribute of thousands of workers to whom the famous treatment has brought robust health and consequent freedom from loss of time and money.

"While living in Akron," said he, "I got so weak and run-down I had to quit work but Tanlac has put me back on the job in the pink of condition."

"I had quinsy so bad I had to have three operations and only a little liquid food kept me alive. This trouble, along with nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness pulled my weight down twenty-two pounds in a matter of days."

"Finally my doctor recommended Tanlac to build me up and I now have an appetite like a buck private. All my lost weight has come back and I am strong and well as ever I was. Tanlac certainly is the workingman's friend."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

LORAIN MAN IS KILLED BY TRUCK

LORAIN, O., Aug. 22.—Ernest Gruber, 56 years of age, died in St. Joseph's hospital at noon today of a fractured skull. He left his home at 1756 29th street to go to work at the steel plant. At the corner of Pearl and 28th streets he stepped into the street as a truck driven by Steve Schick went by. He struck his head on the back of the truck as it went past.

The truck driver, it was announced, will not be held responsible.

bootleggers, and others are to be believed.

These things, Davis said, cannot be forgotten; they were not simple accidents.

"Those at whose door these charges were made were not mere underlings," he asserted. "They were responsible officers of a great political party, put by it in places of high power."

They were but one removed from the head of that party himself.

Points in which the Republican and Democratic parties differ are already clear and will become plainer as the campaign proceeds, Davis said.

"We insist," Davis declared, "that unless political parties are held to party responsibilities, party government will be a farce and failure."

They think that when the public resources have been squandered and bartered away a lawsuit to recover them, is sufficient amends. We would rather keep the public domain than sue for recovery.

"They outwardly deplore special privilege, except in the guise of a protective tariff. We oppose it in this and every other form."

"They believe that exhausted Europe waits to overwhelm us with an avalanche of merchandise. We are at a loss to know how Europe is to pay its debts or buy our products if someone does not take its goods."

"They believe, or profess to believe, that agriculture should be on an economic basis with other industries. We think that to this end, but a committee to investigate. We think the first step to economic equality is to deprive others of their unjust advantages."

"They are content to conduct foreign affairs of the United States through private citizens, unofficially covering. We think America is great enough to speak in her own name."

"They propose now, after nearly four years of absolute inaction, to enroll the United States as a member of the court in international justice. We promise to do so as soon as power is in our hands."

"Wherever any organization, no matter what it chooses to be called, whether K. K. K. or by any other name, raises the standard of racial and religious prejudice, or attempts to make racial or religious hatred a basis of action for public office it does violence to the spirit of American institutions and must be condemned by all those who believe, as I do, in American ideals," he declared.

"The K. K. K.," he said, "has no proper part in the campaign he said and therefore expressed the hope that the 'nominees of the Republican party will see fit by some explicit declaration to join in entirely removing this topic from the field of political debate."

Davis had not intended discussing the Klan today, but since his arrival at Seagirt he had been asked by more than one person for his views on the Klan. He called attention to his speech of August 11, at Clarkburg in which he declared that "nothing would so utterly destroy our happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad as the separation of the citizenship of this country into discordant groups along racial or religious lines."

COOLIDGE TO MAKE BIGGER CAMPAIGN THAN PLANNED

PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 22.—A week of rest in the Vermont hills determined President Coolidge today to take a far more active personal part in the coming campaign than was planned originally.

It is expected that virtually his entire itinerary will have been completed by the time he is ready to return to the capital next week.

Two speaking engagements have been arranged thus far. In the ensuing six days of vacation still other plans will be worked out. Besides speaking in Baltimore September 6, it is likely that he also will appear before the world's fraternal congress meeting in the District of Columbia immediately following his return at the end of this month.

The remainder of the president's stay at the home here of his father has been a political aspect more or less. Tentative engagements call for several ceremonies that savor of politics.

A "Vermont day" has been planned for Monday. Residents of the state will congregate here to pay homage to its distinguished son. Besides ceremonies in connection with a meeting of the home town Coolidge Club have been arranged.

Other political factors in the president's stay here include the possibility of a visit from General Charles G. Dawes, candidate on the Coolidge ticket for vice-president. He is to speak tomorrow in Augusta, Maine. Other political leaders, attracted to New England by the Maine state election may call.

C. Bascom Sloop, the executive secretary, who has been in the back ground for a week, now is engaging Mr. Coolidge in daily conferences where the campaign is discussed. Out of these conferences will grow some of the Coolidge campaign plans.

All the voters of Plymouth township have registered.

Displayed prominently in the general store was a certified list of those qualified to vote. There were 190, of these ten were Coolidges, headed by the president's father.

Three of the ten were women.

Mr. Coolidge was to receive newspaper correspondents accompanying him this afternoon.

DAWES MAKES SPEECH

FINDS MOTHER'S GRAVE

WESTBROOK, Conn., Aug. 22.—An unscheduled address by General Charles G. Dawes, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, will be made today at the Quaker Country club.

The talk will be in response to a general request made by this solid Republican district in the Connecticut valley. The general at first was not inclined to respond to this request. But when the Walton H. Wilson home, where he is stopping, was buried with telephone calls last night, notifying people from all over the district were coming in and expected him to say something, he consented to speak.

The news of the general's appearance in the district spread like wildfire. This was caused by his 75-mile automobile trip thru the Connecticut valley in an effort to locate the final resting place of ancestors on his mother's side. Search was carried through the little cemetery of Haddam, East Haddam, Moodus and Middletown.

The general was looking for the name of Gates and finally succeeded in finding a little moss-grown, ivy-covered cemetery at Moodus, the townhome with his mother's family name engraved thereon. It was from this locality that General Dawes' people emigrated to Marietta, Ohio.

When the caravan of machines attached to the General's party went through the various towns, it excited interest in the sleepy village and people flocked out to see the candidate.

The postmaster at East Haddam was the first person to recognize General Dawes and he proudly told the general that East Haddam was solidly Republican and most of the country around would vote for Dawes and Coolidge. The same sentiment was voiced here also, the general was told, as Westbrook has but four Democrats.

Dawes plans to take sail on the sound this afternoon.

Starting from New Haven at 8:15 p. m., for Brunswick, Me., General Dawes will first go to Yale observatory, New Haven, for a glimpse of Mars through the giant telescope there, having had his desire whetted by glimpses of the red planet through field glasses here last evening. It is likely he will have an hour to spend at New Haven previous to the departure of his train for "down east."

Meanwhile, the reception here this afternoon is for residents of the district. Saybrook, Middletown, the Haddams, and towns of New London county, are expected to have delegations on hand. Visitors from other points also are likely to appear, especially from the Marlford district.

NORA ABBE NEW SCHOOL NURSE

At a special meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon the resignations of Marion Vaughn and Charlotte Beem were accepted. Miss Vaughn and Miss Beem were employed as grade school teachers in the city. Mrs. Sue Neale, Alma E. Woodruff, Susan Brown and Nora Abbe were employed by the Board to fill some vacancies in the teaching staff. All are grade teachers. Miss Nora Abbe is the new school nurse.

The Board also completed arrangements for fitting up the cafeteria so that it will be ready for use when school starts.

BETHESDA, O., Aug. 22.—A teacher's chief aim, Prof. F. R. Kirkendall, superintendent of the Zanesville schools today told the Belmont county teachers' institute at its closing session here, is to teach the child to think, rather than to teach them merely to memorize mere facts.

Insanity and mental disease, the lawyer continued, are not conditions always apparent to the casual observer. A man may appear perfectly normal, for a week, and still be terribly afflicted.

Bachrach declared to be "absurd" the contention of the state's lawyers and doctors that Loeb and Leopold were sufficiently well balanced mentally to refuse to answer questions by the attorneys after their own counsel had got them and advised them not to talk.

"We do not contend that these boys are stupid," said Bachrach. "Nor is there any defense here that they have no memories, or that either cannot reason."

"They are intellectual. They are smart. But it is our contention that these intellects developed as rapidly and their emotional power so slowly that they are both paranoid personalities."

"Leopold, for instance, has a good mind. His reasoning power is intact. The trouble is he starts to reason from the wrong premise."

"One of the characteristics of a paranoid is to imagine himself very important, to believe himself super-man, to associate himself with the great figures in history."

"We are not here trying to defend Leopold's philosophy. We are trying to tell your honor that this same philosophy shows him to be mentally diseased with the delusions he has, the weird ideas, show that his mind is not functioning properly."

To show Leopold's twisted philosophy of life, Bachrach read from the Young collegian's own writing. He read excerpts from a letter Leopold wrote to Loeb after one of the numerous quarrels. In this letter Leopold took Loeb to task severely for "an error of judgment."

STOCKS

NOON STOCKS LEAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The reactionary trend which exhibited itself in the stock market at the opening was prevalent throughout the first hour and with few exceptions the active industrial stocks were available at slightly lower prices. The oils were leaders in this downward movement in the early trading, though a number of the copper and industrial shares which have been favorites for bullish demonstrations of late were also brought to market in good volume.

Among the outstanding exceptions to this rule were cast iron pipe and American waterworks in the specialties and Nash motor in the motor group. Cast iron sold up to 107 1/4 on a large volume of transactions. American waterworks jumped more than 2 points to 116 1/2 at the opening and sold at a new high at 118. Nash motors also sold at a new 1924 price level of 127.

Heavy selling in Pan-American stocks, due to reports of labor trouble in its Mexican refinery accounted for the loss of 1 1/2 points in the B stock. Other oil stocks, though not under heavy selling pressure, were nevertheless unable to make any headway and fractional declines marked the trading in leading stocks including the Standard Oil issues and such principal dependents as Texas Company, Phillips, Pure Oil and Royal Dutch.

The upholding of Premier Herriot in France in the first test vote in both houses, on the German agreement was held as favorable sign from abroad. Domestic reports were also favorable, the carloadings for the week of Aug. 9 showing only a small decline from last year's. The Federal Reserve system's reserve ratio stood unchanged at 82.5 and call money remained at two percent.

Wilson and Company stocks were sold on a declining market in reflection of uncertainty concerning the success of the recapitalization of the company. Both the common and preferred stocks again dipped to near the year's low. Trading slowed up in the second hour, and the market again turned "dull on reactions." Cotton prices were slightly lower, or at least were active bonds in the listed market.

Beauty Specialist Tells HOW FRENCH WOMEN GET THIN

In Paris today old ladies and fat women are a thing of the past. Everywhere you turn you meet slender, girlish figures. It has become necessary for smart women to have covered faces and slender bodies. Only slender bodies for the thin and slender; also large hips and big busts do not fit in with modern hair, which has been so largely adopted, so that even women who were only plump or slightly overweight had to reduce to keep in style.

A new discovery has greatly helped French women in their search for slenderness. It is the formula of a French physician, who has been able to concentrate in a small tablet called "SANGRI-NA," a combination of harmless ingredients which eliminate from the food (while being absorbed by the system) all unnecessary forming elements, thus preventing fat tissues to form on the body. You can eat all you want while using SANGRI-NA and still be thin. This "SANGRI-NA" is considered a most remarkable discovery and is guaranteed absolutely harmless, and is also endorsed by physicians and patients as a wonderful health-giving food. It is taken before meals, and is stronger than before in years. No wrinkles, saggy tissues or stomach disorders follow this simple and easy treatment, so that we can consider to at last have something really worth while trying if we want to become slender and youthful, as fashion has decided we must be. "SANGRI-NA" can be had at any leading drug or department store.

SANGRI-NA is now sold at Whelan's, Crandall's or Rowan's Drug Stores.

PAUL WAINWRIGHT OPENS GREENHOUSE

When only a boy of eleven years of age, Paul Wainwright started his life work by working mornings and evenings before and after school and all day on Saturdays in the greenhouse of J. W. Scott in the little town of Lisbon, O. This he continued to do until he had finished high school, giving full time to the work after graduation.

When nineteen, Mr. Wainwright decided to find out how other florists did their work and consequently went to Pittsburgh and Cleveland, where he worked for a number of the better known men in his chosen field of endeavor. It was in Cleveland that he acquired a good knowledge of designing and decorating.

Mr. Wainwright came to Elvira several years later to work for the L. C. Hecock Floral Company and later went to Lorain to take charge of the store there. He had a successful year in the firm of Woodruff and Wainwright and today he has started the erection of his first greenhouse, which will be under his own management. This will be completed shortly and will be located at 128 Courtland Street.

parties will unanimously back up the Dawes plan. The socialist democrats are expected to support it. The opposition, nationalists, hitlerites and communists, oppose the plan claiming it will "enslave and colonize Germany." One hundred German nationalists apparently will hold the balance of power.

It is rumored however, that the German nationalists are ready to compromise in the event they are assured of "internal compensation" in the way of tariffs protecting the farmers.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The object of continuing occupation of the Ruhr was brought up in the chamber of deputies this afternoon. Replying to an interpretation from minister of devastated regions Rieppel, Premier Herriot said:

One of the specially invited guests was an old man who for many years had been employed as a crossing-sweeper in front of Grosvenor House.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions? Do you know why treatments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal? That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel? Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by C. W. Phillips and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing the blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and gives the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—Advertisement.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing indigestion, flatulence, stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often forcing the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bischoff's Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloating right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excessive acid, prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bischoff's Magnesia is a harmless, inexpensive and the best stomach medicine for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who could be made with no more fear of indigestion.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S BEST STORY
Diogenes is said to have spent the better part of his life searching for an honest man devoting his entire time to that vain quest.

A Canton man apparently has much more faith in the power of newspaper advertising than in the methods employed by the famed lamp-bearer.

And when the honest man found a job waiting him, however, more honestly must not be his only redeeming quality. The advertisement, which appeared in a Canton newspaper, follows:

"JANITOR WANTED"
Thoroughly experienced, rapid, willing, capable, honest, neat appearing young man, age 25 to 40, married, capable of elevator, pressing, machine, cash-system, inside painting, electrical, plumbing, and steam heating, scrub and wash windows, also look after shipping; must furnish good references and work consistently from 6:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. unless you can meet requirements; drones and incompetents stay away.

How to build up your Weight

To be under weight often proves low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red blood-cells, you begin to become strong. That's why S. S. S., since 1892, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a new life strength. Your body is the power, your blood is the power, your age lines are the power, your health is the power. You lack it, too, all your body, your red blood-cells, S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is a blood purifier and a blood builder. It is a blood tonic and a blood builder. It is a blood purifier and a blood builder. It is a blood tonic and a blood builder.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Billy walked up to the dirigible and stuck his nose into the little door. Not being driven away, or seeing any one, he stepped in and soon was exploring the balloon from one end to the other with both Stubby and Button at his heels.

"Isn't it wonderful?" said Billy. "Just as cozy and nice as a ship that sails the sea. Staterooms, lounge, dining saloon, kitchen and storerooms galore! Let's hide and be carried off with her when she starts. It is worth being delayed on our journey to have such an experience."

"Indeed it is!" replied Button. "Quick, get under the table! I hear some one coming," warned Stubby.

Billy dodged under the table in the dining saloon while Stubby hid under a chair and Button ran up a curtain and settled himself on the curtain pole near the ceiling. The person they had heard coming soon passed through the room, and came out of the door. Billy and Button continued their explorations, and presently they found it difficult to stand on their feet, and looking from a window they discovered they were slowly rising from the ground.

At the same time they found it was exceedingly hard to stand still and keep their balance. Before it should grow any worse, they ran back and hid where they had before, to await further developments.

"I hope if they find us they don't pitch us overboard when they get up two or three thousand feet," said Stubby.

"Help! Oh, help! I must have some air," whined Stubby. "I am getting seasick!" But neither Billy nor Button heard him as the noise of the engine and propellers drowned all other sounds in the balloon.

"If there was only a deck I could get out! I wish I had not come out! I just hate this way of traveling!" It is worse than being in an elevator in a high building and having the car shoot from the bottom floor to the top in one bound. This thing is worse for it decides to stop, dropping and shooting up again without warning, and it runs upside down and every other way but straight ahead. Oh, oh, oh! I can't stand it any other minute. I must have air!"

So Stubby crawled out from under his chair and climbed up on a long, narrow window seat directly under an open window and hung out his head. He could only just reach the window by standing on his hind legs as he was so short and the window ledge was so far above the seat. As he looked out he could see the earth fast receding from him. He felt as if it were the dirigible that was standing still and the earth that was dropping from them.

(We hope that he doesn't fall out, don't we?)

After being returned to captivity by Chief of Police Weaver, who reclaimed it from Western Union men when it wandered away previously, the reptile once more became dissatisfied. Since its second departure, the alligator was sighted in the Maumee river.

CHURCH FORUM

(Send problems in question form to Church Editor; answers will appear in later issue.)

What may be regarded as a normal percentage of attendance in the Church School, and how may it be attained?

The school that may be called average, both as to size and situation, can and ought to attain an attendance of ninety per cent of the enrollment exclusive of the Cradle Roll and Home Department.

The first step toward the attainment of the ninety per cent standard is in convincing the officers and teachers that it is a practical goal.

A clean roll is also a primary requisite. Schools must form their own rules regarding enrollment and erasure. After the rules have been adopted they must be consistently followed.

The entire school should be enrolled each year, and enrollment should be by means of a card, pledging the signer to regularity, and any other standards that may seem advisable. During the year the roll should be revised weekly, and the revised enrollment reported for comparison with the attendance figures. Visitors, of course, cannot be counted in estimating the attendance percentage.

Attendance should be established a week in advance. All who expect to be away on the following Sunday should notify their teachers. This plan, when once in operation, will greatly lessen the amount of follow-up work needed.

All absentees who have not been excused in advance should be personally visited during the week, and the cause of their absence determined. The visitor should assume the role, not of a trustee officer, but of a friend. The school exists for the purpose of promoting friendship, and nothing must be allowed to weaken this primary aim.

The school itself must be won over to the percentage idea. The pupils must take an interest in keeping the percentage at the highest possible point. Very few schools report their attendance percentage, so the incentive it might supply is lost.

The following items are recommended for the register: Enrollment last Sunday, Enrollment today, Average attendance, Attendance today, Attendance percentage, Average offering, Offering today. The average figures might begin with the first Sunday in September, and continue for a term of ten months.

Honey is very highly prized by the people of Turkey, and families leaving for a holiday usually take their bee hives with them.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NEW QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON—Jesus Talks with Nicodemus (John 3:1-3, 8-17) for Sunday, Aug. 24.

1. Why did Nicodemus go to Jesus at all, and why, especially, did he go at night? What kind of seeker was Nicodemus?

2. Why does man need rebirth to be saved? Why balk at the "new birth"? Name some of the "mysteries" about us constantly and yet wholly believed and accepted.

3. Would Jesus have insisted on the necessity of the new birth in the publican (Lu. 18:13) or the prodigal (Lu. 15)? Is it possible to know that you are indeed a child of God?

4. How may we remove the perplexities of those who want to be Christians and stumble over the idea of the new birth?

5. What essentials of the Christian life to be found in this lesson?

6. If you were to preach a sermon on John 3:16 what would be your main theme?

CLERICUS SAYS: When we wish to know about the deepest secrets of the gospel the best thing we can do is to do what Nicodemus did—go directly to Jesus. We can do this by sitting down in quietness, perhaps in the night, with our New Testament, and in prayer finding out what the mind of the Master really is.

LESSON PRAYER

How wonderful is thy love, our Father—beyond the grasp of our poor minds and imaginations. Yet thou hast revealed thyself in Jesus the Christ, and in him and through him we know and experience thy great love. Dear Lord in our ignorance and in our questionings, with thou enlighten us as thou didst Nicodemus, and give us a vision of what we may become as new creatures through belief in thyself. May our thoughts and desires range beyond the petty things that occupy us so much, and seek thee with earnest longing, even as a little child. In thy dear name, Amen.

BOOK REVIEW. "How to Improve Your Sunday School," by Frank Wade Smith, 50c, Abingdon Press, Cincinnati, undertakes to help the present church school workers discover their points of strength and weakness—and to help them formulate plans for the improvement of their school.

"A First Primary Course for the Vacation Church School," by Edith McDowell, Abingdon Press, consists of programs and plans designed to meet the needs and interests of boys and girls of 6, 7 and 8 years of age—the result of experiments in work in Vacation School classes with children of many nations.

Saturday and Sunday are what we make of them.

"Time is a sacred trust—we must answer for every moment. A man cannot produce anything that is not already in him."

The weather is not the only thing that goes into making a fine day.

There is no surer road to destruction than prosperity without character.—President Coolidge.

Education which is not based on religion and character is not education.—President Coolidge.

Evil is always the most costly thing in which we can indulge. "Carry on" is the command each morning brings to us as it puts new duties into our hands.

How soon our petty resentments would die if we did not nurse them and keep them alive by brooding! It is not that we cannot forgive, but that we will not forget.

In youth is the time to store pleasant memories. But it is well to consider that many things which seem fair now may become bitter to the taste when they are only recollections.

One of the great dangers which confronts the whole world is that standards of living, with demands for luxuries and leisure, are increasing much more rapidly than intelligence and social responsibility.—Conklin.

HOME EDUCATION

By Carl Yoder

Stinginess Breeds Dishonesty. Now scrounge down, Tom, and look as small as you can," said his mother, as the conductor entered the car, calling "tickets."

The boy sank down in the seat as if he were withering into a mummy. "Look out of the window," said the mother, and he obeyed.

When the conductor reached them, the mother handed him a whole and a half ticket. "How did that boy," asked the conductor, in a tone in which suspicion was evident.

"He is eleven," answered the mother. A flush gathered over the boy's face as he recalled looking out of the window. The conductor shrugged his shoulders and passed on murmuring, "I suppose I shall have to take your word for it."

As soon as the conductor was out of hearing, the mother patted her son on the shoulder and said, "We got ahead of him that time, didn't we?"

How little did she dream that she was giving her son a tale that heart that she might save a few paltry cents.

"BALLOON NIGHT" IS PLEASANT AFFAIR FOR CHILDREN

Almost one hundred and fifty children were present, most of whom participated in one event or another. There were a variety of races, for which prizes were awarded the winners. A spirited tug-of-war was a favorite event with the boys, but the balloon races were the most popular and at the close of the evening, each child happily carried home his own balloon.

If It Doesn't

Scalp specialists will tell you the big problem with scalp ailments is to get the scalp to form a constant habit of taking care of itself. Van Lee Liquid Soap Massage cream is a patented rubber applicator attached to the end of the bottle. The applicator is used to massage the scalp. The medicine is fed through the rubber applicator directly to the roots of the hair while the scalp is dry. One minute a day with Van Lee stops falling hair, relieves itching scalp and grows new hair. Ask about 30-day treatment plan. We give you a positive guarantee.

MARS NEAR TO EARTH, TO TRY RADIO MESSAGE

Powerful Set to Transmit on Long Wave in Effort to Reach Planet.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Mars is today nearer the earth than it has been for over a hundred years, and elaborate preparations are being made to observe the planet and even attempt communication.

The red planet has been hurtling toward the earth at the rate of 8,000 miles an hour, but is still more than thirty-four million miles away.

Tomorrow an attempt will be made from the summit of Juncos, to send a wireless message to the planet. A 15,000-meter long-wave transmitter will be used, and it is probable that Senator Marconi will be present when the strongest radio wave yet produced is shot into space.

Professor Pickering, at the observatory in Mandeville, Jamaica, will attempt a series of photographs by means of specially constructed instruments. His first object is to obtain evidence on the subject of the supposed canals on Mars, which he has stated, "are not water channels, nor vegetation growing along water channels. They are either bands of moisture, or of vegetation growing on moistened soil."

The higher reflectors in England will be in use in observations, including the thirty-inch reflectors at Greenwich, at the Norman Lockyer Observatory, in Devonshire, and at the private observatory of J. H. Reynolds, at Haphorne. It is not certain whether the huge telescope at the Crimean Observatory, in Russia, will be ready.

A French expedition is understood to be operating in Chile, where astronomers will be stationed in the bottom of a mine shaft, with telescopes, the mine shaft acting as an extension and amplification of the telescopes.

No Matter Who's Elected Public Utilities Must Go On!

Every four years, a wave of excitement sweeps the entire country, in anticipation of the election of a new President of the United States. Business and business men pause to wonder what affect a new President, with new ideas and policies, will have upon certain industries.

The public utility business is one of the few that remain undisturbed. No matter who's elected, it cannot affect the steady forward march of the country's public utilities. People must have electricity to light their homes and streets—power to run their factories—gas for heating and cooking—regardless of who sits in the White House.

Investors in the securities of a sound public utility company, such as the Ohio Public Service Company, have no cause to worry in a Presidential year or any other year. They know that their company must continue to show satisfactory earnings at all times, because the public cannot dispense with its service at any time.

Investors in Ohio Public Service Company Preferred Stock, not only have a safe and sound investment but they get an unusually attractive return on their money—over 7%.

If you, too, want to invest your money where it will always be safe, and always pay you an attractive income, write for full information regarding Ohio Public Service Company Preferred Stock. No obligation involved.

Kills Pesky Bed-Bugs P. D. Q.

Just think, a 35c box of P. D. Q. (Pest-killer) makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, etc. and other four-legged pests by rubbing the eggs and does not injure a child.

Liquid fire to the bedbugs is what P. D. Q. is. A snowball in a bushy forest fast re-ports about fire in every passage of P. D. Q. to enable you to kill them and their eggs in the cracks. P. D. Q. can also be used on bedbugs, roaches, fleas, etc. and other four-legged pests.
